The Lexile Framework® for Reading evaluates reading ability and text complexity on the same developmental scale. Unlike other measurement systems, the Lexile Framework determines reading ability based on actual assessments, rather than generalized age or grade levels. Recognized as the standard for matching readers with texts, tens of millions of students worldwide receive a Lexile® measure that helps them find targeted readings from the more than 100 million articles, books and websites that have been measured. Lexile measures connect learners of all ages with resources at the right level of challenge and monitors their progress toward state and national proficiency standards. More information about the Lexile Framework can be found at www.Lexile.com.

Little Box of Emotions

Matching and Memory Cards

Louison Nielman, Illustrated by Marie Paruit

- Matching game and enclosed booklet make learning about eight common emotions fun for toddlers and parents
- Three different games designed to develop young minds and promote self-awareness and a healthier mental outlook
- Instruction booklet provides a list of expressions to recognize the emotions along with directions on how to use the twenty-four cards

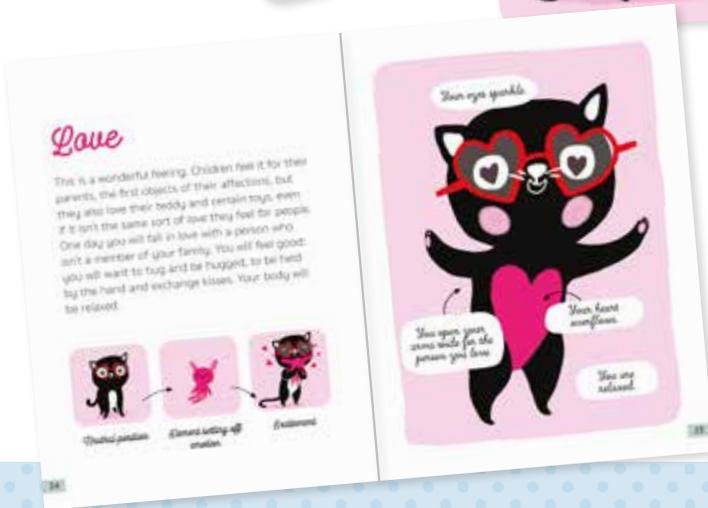

Learn how to name and recognize your emotions, identify your body's responses to these emotions, and discover some postures to channel them with this beautifully designed and illustrated box set complete with instructional booklet and card set. Twenty-four cards showing eight different emotions and reactions offer a valuable method for self-awareness and expression. The three games include simple recognition, memory and matching, and association and verbalization. These games provide caregivers a way to open up and invite dialogue while providing children with the opportunity to talk about how their bodies feel when they experience such an emotion. The guidebook offers advice and postures to get children to relax and channel their emotions, ultimately leading to a healthier outlook and better self-care.

Eight emotions featured in the box set are:

Love	Joy
Disgust	Sadness
Excitement	Surprise
Anger	Fear

Jeffrey Turner

Jeffrey Turner has had an interest in art his entire life. It began the minute he got his first big box of crayons. He worked in New York as an art director and creative director creating logos and advertising campaigns. After 30 years, it was time to move on to something different. He co-created and art directed a magazine for five years. He also designed fabric during this time. Then he became a children's book author and illustrator.

My New Haircut

Early Concepts: Shapes

Jeffrey Turner

-  Learning basic shapes takes on a whole new style that will engage preschoolers as they build vocabulary and chuckle along the way
-  Comical hairdos and one hilarious poodle unite for laptime or independent reading in this new series of board books
-  Parents and teachers will enjoy a brief lesson on shapes and how they are defined that will help extend the learning potential

Who knew that haircuts could be all different shapes? Well, if you are a poodle you can experiment with all kinds of new hairdos, considering a wide range of shapes before making a final decision. Mathematics and comedy come together for a clever introduction to shapes and vocabulary building. A full spread reviews each individual shape for a fun and easy lesson on geometry.

America's Flag Story

Karen S. Robbins, Illustrated by J. James

- 🗨️ There has never been a better time to rally together to celebrate our country's symbolism, and what better way to do it than with this beautiful story on the history of the American flag
- 🗨️ Americans of all ages will proudly share their patriotism as they delight in this rhyming text accompanied by symbolic and moving illustrations
- 🗨️ Learn about flag etiquette and the proper technique for flag-folding with the easy-to-follow instructions

The American flag waves in reverence for many—for the immigrants who came and built a nation with hard work and ingenuity and for all who continue to defend and serve our nation. The verse and artwork resonate with the symbolism that represents the very characteristics of our nation and offers young readers a clear understanding of how one part of our country says so much. The flag represents the freedom, the endurance, and the indomitable courage that makes America the “home of the free and brave.”

Karen S. Robbins

Karen S. Robbins is an award-winning children's author with more than 300,000 copies of books in print. She grew up in a patriotic family with her father and brother, who served in the U.S.M.C. Karen coauthored the adult book Flags Across America and the children's Think! series. She lives in Gig Harbor, Washington, where she writes, crafts, and designs books and toys for children.

The flag of our country,
the red, white and blue,
has a wonderful story
for me and for you.

Then soldiers and sailors
on land and on sea,
raised our flag high
to defend you and me.

"America's Flag Story is a beautiful introduction of the American flag. It is vitally important to teach young children about our flag and country. They are the future of America."

—Gail Halvorsen, Col, USAF, Ret, Berlin Candy Bomber

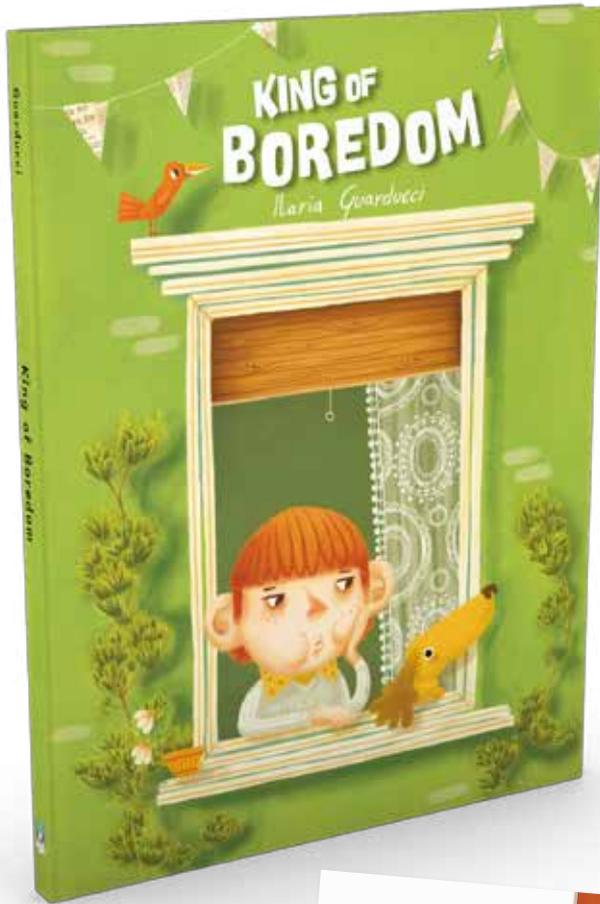

So let's love and respect
our red, white and blue.
Showing it honor
in all that we do.

As over your heart
you place your right hand,

Illustrated by J. James

J. James has over a decade of experience illustrating, producing award-winning packaging, and designing exhibits for retail and museum displays. In 2009, after moving to Seattle, he earned recognition from the Society of Illustrators of Los Angeles. He lives near New York City with his wife and daughter.

King of Boredom

Ilaria Guarducci

-  Young readers will unite over the right to be bored in this engaging picture book celebrating creativity, individuality, and uniqueness
-  Parents and teachers will delight at the innovation and imagination that is sparked as a result of fostering a child's need for alone time
-  Dyslexia-friendly font creates accessibility for all readers

Is it ok to be bored? Ben is thin and pale, always bored, and never has any fun. His favorite color is gray, his favorite dish is plain pasta, and when he has spare time, he loves staring into space. He gets bored no matter the season of the year, the weather, or the position. He is so good at being bored that one day he locks himself in his bedroom and decides to proclaim himself the Supreme King of Boredom: find out what happens when his subjects, his army, and even the queen arrive. King of Boredom uses imagination and everyday examples to let kids know that it's okay to enjoy being alone.

Marvin

Based on “The Way I Was”
by Marvin Hamlisch

Adapted and illustrated by Ian David Marsden

-  Seasoned cartoonist Ian David Marsden adapts and illustrates the incredible biography of Marvin Hamlisch
-  Music lovers and theater kids will gain inspiration from Marvin’s journey
-  Intense anxiety didn’t stop Marvin from going on to win the coveted PEGOT

This graphic novel adaptation of the biography of renowned musician, composer, and conductor Marvin Hamlisch also includes his family’s flight from Nazi-occupied Austria and their immigration to the United States. Accepted into the prestigious Juilliard music school at age 6, Marvin had to work hard to overcome intense anxiety before every performance. Despite his struggles and his self-doubt, he celebrated his first radio hit in his teens, wrote songs for a young Liza Minnelli, worked with Barbra Streisand on Funny Girl, and was only the second person in history to be awarded the PEGOT (Pulitzer, Emmy, Grammy, Oscar, Tony).

“God gave Marvin Hamlisch a life that has made for some great storytelling and this graphic novel is proof. It’s a great read, historically fascinating, and 100% Marvin in its wit and wisdom. I never wanted it to end.”—Lucie Arnaz, Emmy award-winning producer and actress

“Marvin was like my big brother, even though he was my baby brother. We laughed all the time, and his musical instinct was never less than brilliant. I shall remember him and miss him always. How great that there is now a Marvin book!” —Joel Grey, Academy, Tony, and Golden Globe award-winning actor and director

C Jumped over Three Pots and a Pan and Landed Smack in the Garbage Can

Pamela Jane, Illustrated by Hina Imtiaz

Large and vibrant capital letters make sight recognition easy for beginning readers as the letters of the alphabet join forces to find a way to pull C out of the garbage can before he is carried off by the garbage truck. But four letters of the alphabet are missing! Could they be the answer to saving C?

“Spot-on rhyme and meter create a fast-moving mystery in which the alphabetical sequence becomes the basis of a charming chain of events leading to C’s rescue. Brightly colored and easily recognizable letters, adorned with facial features and a well-chosen accessory or two, stand out against uncluttered backgrounds of humorous scenes and activities. A nifty caper showcasing teamwork, letter recognition, and word formation.”—Kirkus Reviews

Max's Box

Letting Go of Negative Feelings

Brian Wray, Illustrated by Shiloh Penfield

Max and his box offer a valuable lesson about understanding our feelings and how to express them. The "box" becomes the living container of all we hold dear, as well as events that challenge how we see the world and feel about ourselves. With a storyline that can be read to and with young children, and simple line drawings, this title provides a modern-day parable for healthy emotional development.

"The art's soft coloring matches the gentle story. An appropriate metaphor to help children manage their emotions." —Kirkus Reviews

Bipolar Bear

Understanding Mental Health and Emotions

Victoria M. Remmel

Written by a mom for her son, this touching story is designed to shed light on mental illness and help families communicate about it. Sometimes Bipolar Bear finds himself at the bright North Pole or the dreary South Pole. Using tools he finds either on his own or with the help of his family, he's able to make his way back to his home.

Parents will enjoy sharing this title with their young ones—at home or at the library. This softly illustrated story is perfect for lap time and opening up .

If the Shoe Fits . . .

Deborah Guarino, Illustrated by Seth Hippen

A vividly illustrated twist on the Cinderella story that asks "What if?" with rollicking results. Humble shoemaker Murray creates a pair of glass slippers for a frantic fairy godmother when her wand runs out of juice, setting off a comic chain of events leading to magical mayhem in this highly entertaining love story for all ages.

The Lobsters' Night Before Christmas

Christina Laurie, Illustrated by Elizabeth Moisan

Creatures of the ocean celebrate Christmas Eve in an undersea retelling of "A Visit by St. Nicholas" by Rev. Clement C. Moore. Under the waves, surrounded by swaying ocean eel grass, Sea Santa makes his yearly Christmas journey in his clamshell sleigh and visits a family of lobsters in lovely watercolor. Jacket design features gold foil and a festive die-cut on the inside flaps!

The Future Architect's Handbook

Barbara Beck, Architect

Young readers discover how architects work by examining "Aaron the Architect's" four drawings (site plan, floor plan, section, and elevation) for his own home. They also learn about design techniques, building components, and architectural styles. Freehand drawings illustrate the text and inspire readers to apply these lessons to their own designs.

Goddesses from A to Z

Ellen Lorenzi-Prince

-  An ABC book for children with illustrations and descriptions of goddesses from around the world
-  26 goddesses illustrating the alphabet are from 19 different cultures
-  Includes a map showing where the goddesses lived

In this introduction to divine female beings, learn about 26 goddesses from 19 cultures around the world. Find out who they are, what they do, and how to say their names. A map shows where each lived, and there is a goddess for each letter of the alphabet!

Wee Witches

Written by Beth Roth & Ted Enik, Illustrated by Ted Enik

-  A richly symbolic ABC primer that introduces Nature's magic and tools of the Craft to wee witches
-  26 colorful illustrations with rhyming verse include A for Acorn, M for Maypole, and S for Spiderweb
-  Each lush illustration contains hidden clues to a secret Witch name

This ABC primer is a playful and richly symbolic introduction to the world of Wicca and the magic of Nature for Pagan families and their Wee Witches. Rhyming verse paired with beautiful illustrations show children their connection to the Earth and Pagan tradition.
